CAUTION: MAIL FROM OUTSIDE THE FIRM

Counsel,

Thank you for your response. We cannot agree to your proposal, as it is both unreasonable for new allegations and antitrust causes of action and with respect to the impact those new claims will have on the rest of the case schedule. In the interest of reaching a compromise without disturbing the Court, we propose a 30-day extension (up to and including Monday, March 31, 2025) to answer or move, and the Sportradar Defendants will agree to a 30-day extension of time for PANDA to respond (up to and including April 30, 2025), with 14 days for the Sportradar Defendants to reply (up to and including May 14, 2025). We also cannot agree to the additional conditions you propose, which are both improper and unnecessary.

In terms of the larger case schedule, we anticipate being able to make a global proposal in the near future for the efficient treatment of PANDA's patent and antitrust claims and the Sportradar Defendants' defenses and counterclaims.

Best,
Nick

Subject: PANDA v. Sportradar et al - Requests for Extension

Counsel,

Yesterday both Genius Sports and Sportradar separately requested that PANDA agree to a 60-day extension of their respective deadline to respond to the amended pleadings filed on Friday.

PANDA does not believe a 60-day extension of the responsive pleading deadline (74 days total) is necessary or appropriate given the current stage of this action. Defendants are represented by national law firms that should have no issues evaluating and responding to the new allegations in a timely manner.

PANDA would be willing to agree to a 14-day extension up to and including March 14 (for a total response time of 28 days) provided that PANDA is likewise afforded a 14-day extension of its deadline to answer or respond to any Rule 12 or other motion filed in response to the amended complaints. Additionally, as is the Court's regular practice, Defendants must agree that discovery related to the new claims will proceed notwithstanding the lack of an Answer or the pendency of any Rule 12 or other motion Defendants may file. Finally, Defendants must agree that they will not rely upon the extension of their response deadline as a basis to assert that any other deadlines in the DCO should later be extended.
